

Introduction

In this Maamer, Rabbi Menachem Mendel of Horodok delves into the mysterious balance between faith and understanding, between revelation and concealment. He reveals that the very act of divine opposition—when God seems to hide or contradict Himself—is not a punishment, but the ultimate aid to human growth. True spiritual ascent, he teaches, is born not of clarity but of resistance. By exploring Avraham Avinu's trials, especially the Akeidah, the Maamer exposes the deep spiritual truth that all divine opposites, all seeming paradoxes of good and evil, converge in one place—within the boundless, simple will of Hashem.

In the Midrash, Rabbi Yitzchak Nafcha opened: "An altar of earth you shall make for Me, and you shall offer upon it, etc." A person makes an altar and offers upon it burnt offerings and peace offerings, and it is said about him, "In every place where I cause My Name to be mentioned, I will come to you and bless you." Avraham our father, who offered himself—how much more so, as it is said, "And Hashem appeared to him."

This can be explained by first introducing two questions raised by the commentators: Why was the test of the Akeidah called by Avraham's name and not Yitzchak's, who gave his life to Him, as Rashi explains on "After these things," that they were Yishmael's words, and Yitzchak replied that he would give himself for His Name.

The second question: Why is Avraham's trial in Ur Kasdim not mentioned in Scripture?

But the matter is known from our Sages' saying: "Whoever is greater than his fellow, his evil inclination is greater than he." And they said, "A person's inclination overcomes him daily; were it not that the Holy One, blessed be He, helps him, he could not overcome it," as it is written, "The wicked watches for the righteous and seeks to slay him; Hashem will not abandon him." And behold, the author of Akeidas Yitzchak explains the verse "I will make for him a help opposite him" that sometimes opposition itself is the help—for without opposition, "this opposite that," as God made, there would be no free choice, reward, or punishment.

בּמִּדְרָשׁ פָּתַח רַבִּי יִצְחָק נַפְּחָא כָּתוּב "מִזְבֵּחַ אֲדָמָה מַעֲשֶׂה לִּי וְהַעֲלִיתָ עָלִיו וְגוֹ"". אָדָם עוֹשֶׁה מִזְבֵּחַ וְזוֹבֵחַ עָלָיו עוֹלוֹת וּשְׁלָמִים נֶאֲמֵר עָלָיו "בְּכָל הַמָּקוֹם אֲשֶׁר אַזְכִּיר אֶת שְׁמִי אָבוֹא אֵלֶיךּ וּבֵרַכְתִּיךּ". אַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ שֶׁזָּבַח אֶת עַצְמוֹ עַל אַחַת כַּמָּה וְכַמָּה שֶׁנֶּאֲמַר ""נַיָּרֵא אֵלָיו ה.

וְיִתְפָּרֵשׁ הָעִנְיָן בְּהַקְדִּים תְּרֵין תְּמוּהֵי דְמִדְכֵּר דְּכִירֵי הַמְפָּרָשִׁים לָמָּה הוּזְכַּר נָסָיוֹן הָעֲקֵדָה עַל שֵׁם אַבְרָהָם וְלֹא עַל שֵׁם יִצְחָק שֶׁמָּסַר אֶת נַפְשׁוֹ אֵלָיו יִתְבָּרֵדְ רְּפֵירוּשׁ רַשִּׁ"י ז"ל "אַחַר הַדְּבָרִים" הַם דְּבְרֵי יִשְׁמַעֵאל וְהֵשִּׁיבוֹ יִצְחָק שֵׁיִמָּסֹר עַצְמוֹ עַל שָׁמוֹ.

וְהַתְּמִיָּה הַשֵּׁנִית לָמָּה לֹא הוּזְכֵּר נִסְּיוֹן אַבְרָהָם בְּאוּר בַּשִּׂדִים

אָבָל הָעִנְיָן יָדוּעַ מֵאֲמַרָם ז"ל כָּל הַגָּדוֹל מֵחֲבֵירוֹ יִצְרוֹ גָּדוֹל מִמֶּנוּ וְאָמְרוּ גַּם כֵּן יִצְרוֹ שֶׁל אָדָם מִתְגַּבֵּר עָלְיו בְּכָל יוֹם אִלְמָלֵא הַקָּדוֹשׁ בָּרוּךְ הוּא עוֹזְרוֹ לֹא הָיָה יָכוֹל לוֹ שֶׁנָּאֲמֵר "צוֹפֶה רָשָׁע לַצַּדִּיק וּמְבַקֵּשׁ לַהָמִיתוֹ ה' לֹא יַעַזְבֵנוּ.

וְהָבֵּה אָמֵר בַּעַל הָעֲקֵידָה עַל פָּסוּק "אֶצֶשֶׂה לוֹ עֵזֶר כְּנֶגְדוֹ" יֵשׁ שֶׁהַהִתְנַגְדוּת הִיא הָעֵזֶר שֶׁאִלְמַלֵא הַהִתְנַגְדוּת "אֶת זֶה לְעַמַת זֶה עָשָׂה הָאֱלֹהִים" הָיָה בִּטוּל הַבְּחִירָה שָׂכָר וְעוֹנֶשׁ.

Or, according to what we explained elsewhere, there would be no possibility of pleasure, for constant delight is no delight, or one could not bear the delight of perception without the movement of "running and returning," which is the resistance.

The general principle: according to the measure of one's greatness in comprehension and service, so too is the measure of nullification and opposition made—small for the small, great for the great—so that through it he may reach the assistance mentioned above.

אוֹ לְפִי דְבָרֵינוּ בְּמָקוֹם אַחֵר הָיָה בִּטוּל הַתַּצְנוּג כִּי תַּצְנוּג תָּמִידִי אֵינוֹ תַּצְנוּג אוֹ שֶׁלֹא הָיָה יָכוֹל לְסְבּּל תַּצְנוּג הַהַשָּׂגָה בְּלִי רָצוֹא וָשׁוֹב שֶׁהוּא הַהִתְנַגְּדוּת.

כְּלָלָא דְּמִלְּתָא לְפִי עֵרֶדְּ גֹּדֶל הַהַשָּׂגָה וְהָעַבוֹדָה כָּדְּ הַבָּטוּל וְהַהָתְנַגְּדוּת נַעֲשִׂים הַקָּטָן לְפִי קְטַנּוֹ וְהַגָּדוֹל לָפִי גָדְלוֹ כְּדֵי שֶׁיָבוֹא אֶל הָעֵזֶר הַנַּ"ל.

But with what is he helped through his fall into opposition, Heaven forbid? The main thing is through great and simple faith without any reason or logic at all, for in that very comprehension and service he already fell to its opposite. Therefore, he should strengthen himself with great and simple faith with firmness.

And this is the help that the Holy One, blessed be He, gives every person each day against the evil inclination—by granting him faith, to strengthen himself in Him, blessed be He, and through it he will rise upon his support.

With this, the question of "a righteous man who prospers, and a righteous man who suffers" is resolved. For Hashem, who examines hearts, knows that sometimes the opposing force to a person's level of comprehension and service is such that he cannot withstand it or rise from his fall within that opposition to strengthen himself in faith as mentioned.

Therefore, He prepares for him a cure before the wound—to harm or to benefit—and through that cause the faith will be strengthened. Or the opposition itself will not strike him harshly because of the suffering or poverty, which themselves become causes of the fear of Hashem and the nullification of lusts and false beliefs.

אָבֶל בַּמֶּה הוּא נֶעֶזֶר מִנְּפִילָתוֹ בְּהִתְנַגְּדוּת חַס ןְשָׁלוֹם, הָעָקֶר הוּא עַל יְדֵי הָאֱמוּנָה הַגְּדוֹלָה וְהַפְּשׁוּטָה בְּלִי שׁוּם טַעַם וְסְבָרוֹת כְּלָל, שֶׁהֲרֵי בְּאוֹתָה הַשָּׁגָה וְהָעֲבוֹדָה שֶׁהִשִּׂיג כְּבָר נָפַל לְשֶׁכְּנֶגְדָּה. לָכֵן יִרְאֶה לָהָתִחַזֵּק בָּאֱמוּנָה הַגִּדוֹלָה וְהַפְּשׁוּטָה בַּחַזְקָה.

וְזֶהוּ הָעֵזֶר שֶׁהַקְּדוֹשׁ בָּרוּךְ הוּא עוֹזֵר לְכָל אָדָם בְּכָל יוֹם נָגֶד הַיֵּצֶר הָרָע, בְּהַשְׁפָּעָתוֹ לָאָדָם אֶת הָאֱמוּנָה הַזֹּאת לְהִתְחַזֵּק בּוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ, וְעַל יָדָה יָקוּם עַל מִשְׁעַנְתּוֹ.

וּבְזֶה יִתְרוֹצֵץ קַשְּׁיַת "צַדִּיק וְטוֹב לוֹ, צַדִּיק וְרֵע לוֹ." שָׁהָרֵי בּוֹחֵן לְבָבוֹת ה' יוֹדַעַ, שֶׁפָּעָם הַהִּתְנַגְּדוּת "אֶת זֶה" שֶׁל הַשָּׂגָה וַעֲבוֹדָה אַחַת הִיא כָּל כָּךְּ גְּדוֹלָה שֶׁלֹא יוּכַל קוּם מִנְּפִילָתוֹ בָּה, וְלֹא יוּכַל קוּם מִנְּפִילָתוֹ בִּאוֹתוֹ הַהִּתְנַגְּדוּת, וּלְהִתְחַזֵּק בָּאֱמוּנָה כַּנִּוְכָּר

לָכֵן מַקְדִּים לוֹ רְפּוּאָה לַמַּכָּה לְהָרֵעַ אוֹ לְהֵיטִיב, וְעַל יְדֵי אוֹתָהּ סִיבָּה תִּתְחַזֵּק הָאֱמוּנָה. אוֹ שֶׁהַהִּתְנַגְּדוּת עַצְמָה לֹא תָחוּל עָלָיו בְּפֶּרֶךְ כָּל כָּךְ מִפְּנֵי הַיִּסוּרִים אוֹ הָענִי, שֶׁהֵם בְּעַצְמָם סִיבַּת יִרְאַת ה' וּבִטוּל הַתַּאֲווֹת וְהָאֱמוּנוֹת הַכּוֹזָבוֹת.

And behold, after we truly know that sin and distancing from Him are more bitter than death and suffering—for suffering and death cleanse sins and are the healing of the wound—it follows that the wound itself is worse than the pain of its remedy.

וְהָנֵּה אַחַר יְדִיעָתֵנוּ בֶּאֶמֶת שֶׁהָעֲבֵירָה וְהַהְתְרַחְקוּת מֵאִתּוֹ יִתְבָּרֵך הִיא רָעָה וִמָּרָה מִמֶּוֶת וְיִסוּרִים, שֶׁהְרֵי הַיִּסוּרִים וְהַמִּיתָה מְמֶרְקִים הָעֲבֵרוֹת וְהֵם רְפוּאַת הַמֵּכָּה, מִמֵּילָא יָדוּעַ שֶׁהַמַּכָּה גָּרוּעָה מִיִּסוּרֵי הָרְפוּאָה. הַמַּכָּה, מִמֵּילָא יָדוּעַ שֶׁהַמַּכָּה גָּרוּעָה מִיִּסוּרֵי הָרְפוּאָה.

Thus, "a righteous man who suffers" can mean that his suffering and pain are his debt and the healing of his wound—the opposition to his service and comprehension—perhaps in a way he could not stand against it, and without the suffering and poverty that weaken the opposing force, he could not rise.

וּמֵעַתָּה "צַדִּיק וְרַע לוֹ" אֶפְשָׁר לוֹמֵר שֶׁהָרָעָה וְהַיָּסוּרִים הֵם חוֹבָתוֹ וּרְפוּאַת מַכָּתוֹ שֶׁהִיא הַהִּתְנַגְּדוּת עֲבוֹדָתוֹ וְהַשְּׂגָתוֹ "אֶת זֶה לְעֻמַת זֶה" אוּלַי בְּאֹפָן שֶׁלֹּא הָיָה יָכוֹל לַעֲמֹד נֶגְדָּם וּבְנָפְלוֹ לֹא יוֹסִיף קוּם, אִם לֹא עַל יְדֵי הַיִּסוּרִים וְהַדַּלוּת שֶׁמְתַיְשִׁים כֹּחַ הַהִתְנַגְּדוּת בַּנִּזְכֵּר

But "a righteous man who prospers" is one for whom the opposing force corresponding to his intellect, service, and path does not require the reinforcement of suffering—for without them, he can still stand firm against it.

ן"צַדִּיק וְטוֹב לוֹ" הוּא כִּי "אֶת זֶה לְעַמַּת זֶה" שֶׁכְּנֶגֶד שִּׂכְלוֹ וַעֲבוֹדָתוֹ וְדַרְכּוֹ אֵינוֹ צָרִיךְ חִזּוּק הַיִּסוּרִים וּבְלָתָם יָכוֹל לַעֲמֹד כְּנֶגָדָם.

And this is a matter that no creature can estimate, for each one is scorched by the canopy of his fellow; but before Him, blessed be He, all is revealed and known—"He who fashions their hearts together, Who understands…" (Tehillim 33:15).

וְזֶהוּ דָּבָר שֶׁאֵין שׁוּם בְּרִיָּה יְכוֹלָה לְשַׁעֵר, שֶׁהֲרֵי כָּל אֶחָד נִכְנָה מֵחֻפָּתוֹ שֶׁל חֲבֵרוֹ, אֲבָל לְפָנָיו יִתְבָּרַךְ גָּלוּי וְיָדוּעַ, "הַּיּוֹצֵר יַחַד לְבָּם הַמֵּבִין" וְגוֹ:

And as our Sages said concerning the extreme poverty of Rabbi Elazar ben Pedas, when it was asked before Heaven whether his fortune might be changed, even through a re-creation of the worlds, perhaps it would coincide with an hour of sustenance.

וְכַאֲמַרָם ז"ל עַל גֹדֶל הָעֲנִיוּת שֶׁל רַבִּי אֶלְעָזָר בֶּן פְּדָת, שֶׁהֵשִׁיבוּ לוֹ בְּסַפֵּיקָא קַמֵּי שְׁמַיָּא, אֲפִלוּ עַל יְדֵי חָזָרַת בְּרִיאַת עוֹלָמוֹת מֵחָדָשׁ אוּלַי יִתְרַמֵּי בִּשְׁעָתָא דָמזוֹני דָמזוֹני

And the matter is as we have said—that corresponding to the comprehension and service of Rabbi Elazar ben Pedas, the opposing force was proportionate. Whether one can stand against that opposition without suffering, or whether it can only be with the afflictions of poverty.

ְוָהָעְנְיָן הוּא פִּדְבָרֵינוּ, שֶׁכְנָגֶד הַשָּׁגַת רַבִּי אֶלְעָזָר בֶּן פְּדָת שִׂכְלוֹ וַעֲבוֹדָתוֹ, הַהִּתְנַגְּדוֹת מִזָּה, אֲשֶׁר "אֶת זֶה לְעַמַת זֶה", אִם אֶפְשָׁר לַעֲמֹד כְּנָגְדָּה בְּלִי יִסוּרִין, אוֹ אוּלֵי שָׁאֵי אֶפְשָׁר אָם לֹא עַל יְדֵי יִסוּרֵי עֹנִי.

And behold, the trial of the Akeidah, as brought in the Midrashim and Rashi, was that Avraham could have questioned His ways. As Rabbi Abba said: Avraham said, "I will lay out my plea before You—yesterday You said, 'For in Yitzchak shall seed be called to you,' and You turned and said, 'Take your son'; and now You say, 'Do not send your hand.""

וְהָנֵּה נָסָיוֹן הָעֲקֵדָה הוּכָא בַּמִּדְרָשִׁים וּכְרַשִּׁ"י ז"ל, שֶׁהָיָה לוֹ לְאַבְרָהָם לְהַרְהֵר אַחַר מִדּוֹתָיו, וְהוּא שֶׁאָמֵר רַבִּי אַבָּא, אָמֵר אַבְרָהָם "אַפְּרִישׁ לְפָנֶיְדּ אֶת שִׁיחִי, אֶתְמוֹל אָמַרְתָּ לִי כִּי בְיִצְחָק יִקָּרֵא לְדְּ זָרַע, וְחָזַרְתָּ וְאָמַרְתָּ קַח נָא אֶת בִּנְדְּ, וְעַכְשָׁו אַתָּה אוֹמֵר לִי אַל הִיִּקִּשָׁלָח יַדָדְ.

This appeared as a change of will in the Creator, Heaven forbid—which is the root of heresy, Heaven forbid—and likewise all the questions of "a righteous man who suffers," contrary to what seems just or promised by the Torah, and all false beliefs.

שֶׁהוּא כְּאִלוּ שִׁנּוּי רָצוֹן אֵצֶל הַבּוֹרֵא יִתְבָּרֵף חַס וְשֶׁלוֹם, שֶׁהוּא שֹׁרֶשׁ הַכְּפִירָה חַס וְשֶׁלוֹם, וְכֵן כָּל הַקָּשִׁיוֹת "צַדִּיק וְרַע לוֹ" הָפֶף מִן הָרָאוּי וְהַבְּטְחַת הַתּוֹרָה אוֹ שָׁאָר קִשְׁיוֹת וָאֱמוּנוֹת הַכּוֹזָבוֹת.

For "this opposite that" God made—against every attachment and comprehension of His truth and wisdom. And as Rashi said: concerning the serpent, "More cunning than all"—cursed more than all. According to his cunning and greatness was his downfall.

אֲשֶׁר "אֶת זֶה לְעַמַּת זֶה עָשָׂה הָאֱלֹהִים", נָגֶד כָּל דְּבֵקוּת וְהַשֶּׂגַת אֲמִיתּוּתוֹ בְּחָכְמָתוֹ, וּכְמַאֲמַר רַשִׁ"י ז"ל עַל הַנָּחָשׁ "הָיָה עָרוּם מִכּּלּ", אָרוּר מִכּּל, לְפִי עָרְמַתוֹ וּגִדוּלֶתוֹ הָיְתָה מַפַּלְתוֹ

But Avraham our father, peace be upon him, stood firm in the test and did not doubt the faith in his comprehension of His words, though they seemed reversed. He strengthened himself in the truth of the great and mighty faith in His simple will.

אֲבָל אַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם עָמַד בַּנִּסְּיוֹן וְלֹא הֵרְהֵר אַחַר הָאֱמוּנָה בְּהַשָּׁגָתוֹ אֶת דְּבָרָיו יִתְבָּרֵךְ שֶׁהֵם מַהָּפוּכִים, וְהִתְחַזֵּק בָּאֱמֶת הָאֱמוּנָה הַגְּדוֹלָה וְהֶחֵזָקָה בְּרָצוֹנוֹ הַפָּשׁוּט יִתְבָּרַךְּ

For His thoughts are not our thoughts, nor His ways our ways; we do not understand His words or His governance at all. And all apparent evils from Him are true goods, and all that seems reversed—everything goes to one place.

כִּי "לֹא מַחְשָׁבוֹתֵיו מַחְשָׁבוֹתֵיכֶם וְלֹא דְּרָכִיוּ דַּרְכֵיכֶם", וְאֵין הַבְּּרִיּוֹת מְבִינִים דְּבָרָיו וְהַנְּהָגָּתוֹ כְּלָל, וְכָל הָרְעוֹת הַנִּדְמִיוֹת מֵאִתּוֹ יִתְבָּרֵדְ הֵן טוֹבוֹת אֲמִתִּיוֹת, וְכָל דְּבָרָיו הַנִּרְאִים מַהְפוּכִים הַכֹּל אֶל מָקוֹם אֶחָד הוֹלֵדְ

They are all without any change or alteration, Heaven forbid; what is not understood stems from us, for no comprehension can grasp His words or the meaning of His expressions.

וְהֵן הֵמֶּה בְּלִי שׁוּם שִׁנּוּי וּתְמוּרָה חֵס וְשָׁלוֹם, וּמַה שֶׁאֵינוֹ מוּבָן הַדָּבָר רַק הוּא מִכֶּם, שֶׁאֵין שׁוּם הַשָּׁגָה יָכוֹלָה לְהַשִּׂיג דְּבָרָיו יִתְבָּרֵךְ וּפֵרוּשׁ מִלּוֹתָיו.

They call evil good and good evil—and all the more so His thoughts are not understood, and even more so His simple will.

And with this faith, Avraham our father, peace be upon him, strengthened himself and did not rely on his own understanding. He stood firm in the test, not questioning Him, blessed be He. The general principle is that the essence of all tests lies in faith, as it is said, "To test you, to know what is in your heart."

וּבֶצֱמוּנָה זוֹ הִתְחַזֵּק אַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם וְלֹא סָמַף עַל הַשָּׂגָתוֹ וְעָמַד בַּנִּסִּיוֹן שֶׁלֹא לְהַרְהֵר אַחְרָיו יִתְבָּרֵף, כְּלָלָא דְּמִלְתָא עִיקַר הַנִּסִּיוֹנוֹת הֵם בֶּצֵּמוּנָה, הַבְּמַאֲמָר "לְנַסּוֹתְךָ לָדַעַת אֶת אֲשֶׁר בִּלְבָרָד.

All the tests that Avraham our father, peace be upon him, experienced were in this manner, such as the famine: at first He said, "Go forth," and afterward it appeared as though there was a change of will when famine came upon that very place, as Rashi explains—and so with them all.

ְוְכֶל הַנִּסְּיוֹנוֹת שֶׁהָיוּ לְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ עָלָיו הַשָּׁלוֹם הָיוּ עַל דֶּרֶך זֶה, כְּמוֹ הָרָעָב, שֶׁאָמֵר בַּתְּחַלֶּה "לֶךְ לְךְּ", וְאַחַר כָּךְ נִתְדַּמָּה שִׁנּוּי רָצוֹן בְּהָבִיאוֹ רָעָב לַמָּקוֹם הַהוּא, כִּפִירוּשׁ רַשִּׁ"י ז"ל וְכֵן כַּלְּם

But the test of self-sacrifice for His sake, after knowing that He is the Creator—He said and it came to be; He commanded to give one's life and to offer oneself for Him—who would not listen or desire to obey? Though this too is a test, it is not on the level of our holy forefathers.

אָבָל נָסָיוֹן מְסִירַת נֶפֶשׁ עָבוּרוֹ יִתְבָּרֵךְ אַחֲרֵי הַיְּדִיעָה כִּי הוּא הַבּוֹרֵא, הוּא אָמַר וַיְהִי, וְהוּא צִנָּה לְמְסוֹר נַפְשׁוֹ וְלִזְבּּחַ עַצְמוֹ עָבוּרוֹ יִתְבָּרַךְ—מִי לֹא יִשְׁמַע וּמִי לֹא יָאֶבֶה לוֹ יִתְבָּרֵךְ, אִם אַף גַּם הוּא נִסָּיוֹן, אֲכָל לֹא לָפִי עֵרֶךְ אֲבוֹתֵינוּ הַקְּדוֹשִׁים.

Likewise, the questions of the world—even the slightest ones—if the Holy One, blessed be He, Himself had told a person to sacrifice himself for Him, and he knew with certainty that these were the words of Hashem, surely he would obey. Therefore, the two tests mentioned above are not recorded in the Torah.

וְכֵן קֵשְׁיוֹת הָעוֹלָם אֲפִלּוּ קַלּוֹת, אָם הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרֵךּ הָיָה אוֹמֵר לוֹ בְּעַצְמוֹ שֶׁיִזְבַּח אֶת עַצְמוֹ עָבוּרוֹ, וְהָיָה יוֹדֵעַ שָׁהֵם דִּבְרֵי הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרֵךּ, בְּוַדַּאי הָיָה שׁוֹמֵעַ לוֹ. וְלָכֵן לֹא הוּזְכָּרוּ בַּתּוֹרָה שְׁנֵי הַנִּפְּיוֹנוֹת הַנִּזְכָּרִים לְעֵיל.

As our Sages said, the Torah should not have begun except from "This month shall be for you," but "He told His people the power of His deeds." For the Torah is eternal and applies in every generation and every person who contemplates and reflects upon the actions described in the Torah—His attributes and His governance of the lower world through supreme wisdom.

כְּאָמְרֶם ז"ל שֶׁלֹּא הָיְתָה צְרִיכָה לְהַתְחִיל אֶת הַתּוֹרֶה אֶלָּא מֵ"הַחֹדֶשׁ הַזֶּה לָכֶם", אֲכָל "כֹּחַ מַצֲשָׁיו הָגִּיד לְעַמּוֹ". כִּי הַתּוֹרָה לְעוֹלֶם עוֹמֶדֶת וְנוֹהֶגֶת בְּכָל דּוֹר וְלַעֵמוֹ". כִּי הַתּוֹרָה לְעוֹלֶם עוֹמֶדֶת וְנוֹהֶגֶת בְּכָל דּוֹר וְדֹוֹר וּבְּכָל אָדָם עַל יְדֵי הְסְתַּבְּלוּתוֹ וְהְתְבּוֹנְנוֹתוֹ בְּמַעֲשֵׂה הַכָּתוּב בַּתּוֹרָה, מִדּוֹתָיו יִתְבָּרֵדְ וְהַנְּהָגָתוֹ בִּעוֹלֶם הַשָּׁפָל בְּחָכְמָה הָעֶלְיוֹנָה

To bring forth the pure from the impure and the good from the bad, for all severities are kindnesses, and all flows to one place. The root of all is His simple will, in His great and steadfast faith.

לָתֵת טָהוֹר מִטָּמֵא וּמֵרָע טוֹב, וְכָל הַגְּבוּרוֹת הֵם חֲסָדִים, וְהַכּל אֶל מָקוֹם אֶחָד הוֹלֵךּ, וְשֹׁרָשׁ כַּלָּם רָצוֹנוֹ הַפָּשׁוּט בַּאֲמוּנַתוֹ הַפִּשׁוּטַה הַגִּדוֹלָה וְהַחֲזַקָה. רָצוֹנוֹ הַפָּשׁוּט בַּאֲמוּנַתוֹ הַפִּשׁוּטַה הַגִּדוֹלָה וְהַחֲזַקָה.

Through this, all severities are sweetened in kindnesses, for by this faith one pierces to the depths, joining all the attributes into oneness. From there, blessing and flow extend—through His firm faith—and afterward one perceives His words revealed as not reversed.

וּבָזֶה מִתְמַתְּקִים כָּל הַגְּבוּרוֹת בַּחֲסָדִים, שֶׁהְרֵי בֶּאֱמוּנָה זוֹ נוֹקֵב עַד הַתְּהוֹם וּמְשַׁלֵב כָּל הַמִּדוֹת לְיַחֵד לְאֶחָד, וּמִשָּׁם מִתְבָּרֵך וְנִשְׁפָּע אֱמוּנָתוֹ יִתְבָּרֵך הֶחֱזָקָה, וְאַחַר כָּךְ מֵבִין דְּבָרָיו יִתְבָּרֵךְ בְּהָתְגַּלוּת שֶׁאֵינָם מַהָפּוּכִים.

As Hashem answered Avraham there, according to Rashi's interpretation, from the source of blessings all worlds are automatically blessed, even down to the lowest world and the smallest creature of the sea.

כְּמוֹ שֶׁהֵשִׁיב הַשֵּׁם יִתְבָּרֵךְ לְאַבְרָהָם אָבִינוּ שָׁם כִּפֵירוּשׁ רַשִׁ"י ז"ל, וּמְמְקוֹר הַבְּרָכוֹת מִמֵּילָא מִתְבָּרְכִים כָּל הָעוֹלָמוֹת עַד הָעוֹלָם הַשָּׁפָל וְהַשִּׁלְשׁוּל הַקָּטָן שָׁבַּיָּם.

And this is the opening of Rabbi Yitzchak Nafcha: "In every place where I cause My Name to be mentioned." For the word "Name" refers to the feminine, the Shechinah, and the word "I cause to be mentioned" is masculine.

וְזֶהוּ פְּתִיחַת רַבִּי יִצְחָק נַפְּחָא, שֶׁאָמֵר "בְּכֶל הַמֶּקוֹם אֲשֶׁר אַוְכִּיר אֶת שְׁמִי", כִּידוּעַ שֶׁמִּלֵת "שֵׁם" הִיא נוּקְבָא וּשְׁכִינָה, וּמִלַּת "אַזְכִּיר" הִיא לְשׁוֹן זָכָר.

The meaning is: in every place where the names—the feminine and masculine, the severities and kindnesses—are united, "I will come to you and bless you": a blessing and flow in spiritual comprehension, and the physical blessing follows naturally.

וּפֵירוּשׁ: בְּכָל הַמָּקוֹם שֶׁמְּתְיַחֲדִים הַשֵּׁמוֹת הַנּוּקְבָא בַּזָּכָר וְהַגְּבוּרוֹת בַּחֲסָדִים, "אָבוֹא אֵלֶיךְ וּבֵרַכְתִּיךְ"—בְּרָכָה וְהַשְׁפָּעָה בַּהַשָּׁגָה, וְהַגַּשְׁמִיּוּת מִמֵּילָא מִתְבָּרֶכֶת.

And what it says, "Avraham, who offered himself," refers to the test of faith mentioned above—the most bitter trial, worse than death and offering. And this is what is meant by "And Hashem appeared to him": the revelation and partial understanding of His ways.

וּמַה שֶׁהָזְפִּיר לָשׁוֹן "אַבְרָהָם שֶׁזָּבַח אֶת עַצְמוֹ" הוּא פֵּירוּשׁ נָסָיוֹן הָאֱמוּנָה הַנִּזְפָר לְעֵיל, הַנָּרוּעַ וְהַמֶּר מִמָּנֶת וּזְבִיחָה, וְזֶהוּ שֶׁאָמַר "וַיֵּרָא אֵלָיו ה'"—בְּהִתְּגַלוּת וּבְהַבְנַת קְצָת דְּרָכִיו יִתְבָּרַךְּ.

[NOTE Summary

The Maamer begins with Rabbi Yitzchak Nafcha's Midrash: "An altar of earth you shall make for Me." It explains that when a man offers sacrifices to God, He promises, "In every place where I cause My Name to be mentioned, I will come to you and bless you." If this is true for one who merely offers an animal, how much more so for Avraham, who "offered himself."

From here, Rabbi Menachem Mendel explains two puzzling points. Why is the test of the Akeidah attributed to Avraham, not Yitzchak, who actually gave his life? And why is Avraham's test in the fiery furnace of Ur Kasdim not mentioned in the Torah? The answer: the greater the person, the greater the opposition he faces—"Whoever is greater than his fellow, his evil inclination is greater than he." This resistance is not merely an obstacle; it is the "help opposite him" created by God to preserve free choice and deepen divine pleasure. Without resistance, there would be no joy, no reward, and no meaning in faith or service.

The Maamer reveals that the essence of all trials is emunah peshutah—simple faith. When intellect and understanding collapse, faith alone sustains man. This is the true assistance that God grants each person daily: the inner power to stand firm against his yetzer hara through faith. Even the questions of "Tzaddik v'ra lo" (why the righteous suffer) are rooted in this. Suffering and poverty, he explains, are not punishments but mercies. They weaken the overpowering resistance that might otherwise crush a soul. What appears as "evil" is in fact the medicine for one's spiritual ailment—the "opposite" force that drives deeper reliance on God.

In the example of Rabbi Elazar ben Pedas, whose poverty was legendary, Heaven revealed that his suffering could not be removed—not even by recreating the worlds anew—for it perfectly balanced his immense spiritual comprehension. Every person's challenge, every concealment, is precisely tailored to the soul's light.

Avraham Avinu embodies this. His greatest test was not physical self-sacrifice, but the trial of faith. When commanded to offer Yitzchak, it appeared as if God had contradicted His own promise—"for in Yitzchak shall your seed be called." This seeming change of divine will is the root of all heresy, for it challenges reason itself. Yet Avraham stood unwavering. He did not question; he did not rely on understanding. Instead, he drew upon emunah gedolah ve'chazakah—the great, steadfast faith in God's simple will—trusting that "His thoughts are not our thoughts." He knew that what appears reversed or cruel is, in truth, good, that all contradictions flow to one place, the unified purpose of divine kindness.

Thus, the ultimate test is not martyrdom but maintaining faith when intellect falters. Self-sacrifice is natural once God is clearly known; faith in the face of confusion is infinitely higher. That is why the Torah omits certain trials—because it is eternal and meant for every soul in every generation. Its purpose is not to recount history but to awaken divine perception within each person: to see that all forces, even severity and darkness, are rooted in His kindness and oneness.

When a person learns to perceive that "all gevurot (judgments) are chasadim (kindnesses)," the opposites within him are unified, and the channels of blessing open. Through faith, one "pierces to the depths," integrating all divine attributes into harmony, until the seeming contradictions of life reveal their hidden good. From this unified source, all worlds—from the highest heavens to the smallest creature—are blessed.

This is the meaning of Rabbi Yitzchak Nafcha's verse: "In every place where I cause My Name to be mentioned, I will come to you and bless you." "Name" (shem) alludes to the Shechinah, the feminine, while "I will cause to be mentioned" (azkir) is masculine. When the masculine and feminine unite—when kindness joins judgment—God says, "I will come to you and bless you." The very merging of opposites brings blessing.

The final insight: when the Torah describes Avraham as "one who offered himself," it refers not to physical sacrifice but to the trial of faith—the hardest of all tests, "more bitter than death itself." And when it concludes, "And Hashem appeared to him," it signifies that after faith is tested and proven, God grants understanding—He reveals that what once seemed reversed was never contradictory at all.

Practical Takeaway

Faith is not blind surrender; it is the soul's deepest vision. When your life feels contradictory—when what God asks seems to oppose His own promises—remember Avraham. The highest service is to believe through confusion. Every concealment, every hardship, is perfectly measured to help you discover your own divine resilience. Trusting beyond comprehension is what transforms pain into light.

Chassidic Story

It is told of Rabbi Menachem Mendel of Horodok that once, during his exile in Tiberias, he lived in great poverty. His students saw that he had nothing to eat and wept. When they finally brought him a piece of dry bread, he lifted his eyes and said joyfully, "How sweet is this gift from the Creator! The very hunger was His kindness—to let me taste how faith alone can sustain the soul."

In that moment, he began to sing softly, tears shining in his eyes: "Master of the world, Your sweetness hides in Your concealment." His students later said that from that day, their teacher's face radiated a light that words could not capture.

END NOTE